We are looking for an outstanding school leader to play a major role in delivering an exciting and innovative educational concept for young people in east London. The Hackney University Technical College (UTC) is a new school for 14-19 year-olds which will open in September 2012. As the Deputy Headteacher you will be a driving force alongside the Headteacher, with key leadership responsibilities.

You will be committed to the UTC vision and provide outstanding education leadership to ensure excellence and achievement for all learners, with a true commitment to community and employer engagement, safeguarding and raising standards. You will be an outstanding classroom teacher with an excellent track record of curriculum design and delivery alongside experience of raising standards within a successful inner city secondary school. You will inspire confidence in staff, students and employers and ensure the smooth day to day running of the UTC.

You will take a lead, with the Headteacher, to maximise the impact of the UTC's specialisms of Digital and Health Technologies and engage with employers to set exceptional standards for the technical and vocational curriculum.

Students at the UTC will follow a curriculum of professional and technical study in a specialist area, alongside GCSE-level qualifications in the English Baccalaureate subjects. The detail of the curriculum will be influenced strongly by partner employers and universities to make sure that students have the best possible chance of a successful future in higher education and/or employment.

Hackney UTC's partners include Hackney Community College, BT Group, the University of East London, the Homerton University Hospital NHS Trust and the London Development Agency.

The iconic new UTC building is situated on the award winning Shoreditch Campus of Hackney Community College and will be equipped to the highest standards.
